

WRITERS READ UKIAH

PRESENTS

CHRISTOPHER DOUTHIT

Chris Douthit is a native of Ukiah. An English teacher and librarian at Ukiah High School, he has written original material for the the Ukiah Short Play Festival and for Ukiah Players Theatre, and has been a participant in the the Ukiah Favorite Poem Project and other local community literary events. His essay "Learning to See" was published in California Educator in 2007. He received third place in the Haiku about Ukiah category in the Ukiah Haiku Festival in 2011.

ART CENTER UKIAH

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 2017

7 PM: FEATURED READING

8 PM: OPEN MIC

Art Center Ukiah: 201 South State Street, Corner of Church Street, Ukiah, CA 95482
(1 block south of Ukiah Court House on opposite side of the street)

Suggested donation: $5  Refreshments provided

For Information, contact Writers Read Ukiah MC Michael Riedell, innisfree@pacific.net

Writers Read happens on the last Thursday of most every month and has been happening in Ukiah since 1999.

This reading series is sponsored in part by Poets & Writers, through a grant from the James Irvine Foundation and the Hearst Foundation.

Additional support provided by an anonymous local writer, Colored Horse Studios, Michael Riedell, Bill "Jabez" Churchill, the Poet Laureate Committee of Ukiah, Art Center Ukiah, and donations.